

PERKINS' DANGER SIGNAL

Raises Howl Against the Enforcement of Sherman Anti-Trust Law

DAMAGES THE INTERESTS

Counsel for Steel Trust Tells of $10,000 Contribution to Campaign of 1904.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Waving his arms about his head in earnest gesticulation, George W. Perkins, former henchman of J. P. Morgan, today denounced the Sherman anti-trust law before the Stanley steel investigating committee and predicted business disasters as a result of its enforcement.

Perkins declared that the present campaign of anti-trust prosecutions was dangerous to all business interests, and he characterized the dissolution order of the supreme court in the Standard Oil case as a "red flag danger signal to every business man."

He asserted that under the Sherman law the commercial supremacy of the nation could not be maintained. The benefits of the big corporations in business should be preserved, he declared, and he characterized as an "infamous lie" the charge that certain bankers started the panic of 1907 for a purpose, and that it finally got beyond their control. He also denied that the Morgan interests dominated the financial world.

Washington, Aug. 10.—George W. Perkins, director of the United States Steel Corporation and former partner in J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., was not ordered before the bar of the house yesterday by the house committee of inquiry into the affairs of the Steel Corporation. Neither will he be. After a heated executive session of the committee, in which was discussed the refusal, on advice of counsel, of Mr. Perkins to answer a line of questions regarding contributions to campaign funds, the committee reached an understanding whereby all threats were waived.

A plan was agreed upon as to just what questions, regarding campaign contributions should be asked, and Richard Lindabury, counsel for the Steel Corporation, declared later that

CONGRESSMAN ASHBROOK'S RAPID PROGRESS FOR NEW NEWARK POSTOFFICE SITE

The Bill to Sell Present Site and Buy New One is Reported Favorably by the House Committee on Public Grounds.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Mr. Shepard from the committee on Public Buildings and Grounds has just submitted the following report on the Federal building site at Newark, O.

It is in response to the bill recently introduced by Congressman Ashbrook providing for selling the present postoffice site and purchasing a new and larger one.

The report was committed to the committee of the whole house on the state of the Union and ordered to be printed.

REPORT.

"The committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 13276) relating to a new Federal building site at Newark, Ohio, respectfully reports that the bill do pass.

"The omnibus public buildings act of June 30, 1906, authorizes an appropriation of $30,000 for a postoffice building and site at Newark, O. Under that authorization a site was acquired on July 6, 1908, at a cost of $18,500. Subsequently it developed that the remaining amount was not sufficient to construct a building of sufficient size to handle the government business at Newark, and the omnibus buildings act of June 25, 1910, increased the limit of cost to $190,000. The committee finds, after consultation with the supervising Architect, that the site acquired under the initial authorization is too small for such a building as is contemplated by the act of June 25, 1910, and as is needed to meet the demands of the postoffice business at Newark. The receipts of the Newark postoffice for the fiscal year of 1911 were approximately $64,796, and are growing rapidly, having more than doubled since 1901. The population in 1910 was 25,464, and is also growing rapidly.

"The committee is therefore of the opinion that, as provided by the bill now under consideration, the present site should be sold at once, and the proceeds applied in the purchase of a new and proper site or exchanged in whole or part payment for such new site, the remainder of the purchase price, if any to be taken from the appropriation heretofore authorized for building and site at Newark. Over five years having elapsed since the first appropriation was made and the necessity of a new building being most urgent, the committee believes that a sufficient emergency exists to justify the immediate passage of the bill under consideration, and so recommends.

Congressman Ashbrook of the Newark district, has been very active on behalf of his constituents and is using his best efforts to secure favorable action on the matter so as to get the Newark building started.

Unless Congress adjourns too quickly Mr. Ashbrook thinks he will get the bill passed the present session.

TOGO RECEIVES OVATION IN ALL CITIES VISITED

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—Baltimore and Philadelphia vied with one another in giving Admiral Togo an enthusiastic welcome yesterday. After five hours of public receptions, tours through steel works and foundries, a cruise of Chesapeake Bay and an automobile trip through the city of Baltimore, the Japanese naval commander arrived in this city on a private car at 6 o'clock last night.

Thousands of people crowded the streets and many more lined Broad street as the Admiral and his suite in two automobiles were escorted to the hotel. The Admiral saw a big sign on the City Hall reading, "Welcome Togo," and looked with pleasure on the scores of Japanese flags that adorned the buildings nearby.

Last night Admiral Togo rested, his program calling for an evening's rest, the first time in several days.

Today he will see some of Philadelphia's industries visiting the shipyards and plants along the river front. He also inspected the navy yard.

The first introduction to Admiral Togo in Baltimore as he alighted from the train here was accorded to Togo Matthews, a six-year-old Baltimore lad, who was born at the time the Japanese naval commander defeated the Russian fleet. He presented a bouquet of roses to the Admiral, which the latter received with a pleased smile, remarking that he felt honored to be the godfather of a young American.

President Taft has received a cablegram from the Emperor of Japan thanking him for his cordial welcome to Admiral Togo. The message follows:

"The President, Washington. The splendid welcome accorded by you to Admiral Togo and the friendly sentiments expressed by you on that occasion have touched me very deeply, and I pray you accept this assurance of my most cordial thanks and appreciation. MITSUHIITO."

The Admiral expressed his appreciation for the reception accorded him by the United States government, from Taft down.

LONDON CONFRONTED BY A GREAT FOOD FAMINE

London, August 10.—That six million persons in London will have to walk and that a great food famine is inevitable unless the monster transportation strike is settled within 24 hours is predicted today. The strike spread today to freight handlers and teamsters at all railroad stations, about 25,000 men going out. A conservative estimate of the number now involved in the strike is about 120,000 and the figure is steadily mounting. Thousands of tons of food are rotting in the ships and the prices of meat and other provisions are soaring.

PERISHED IN LONDON HOTEL FIRE

Mr. Jameson Lee Finney, Lost Life When Blaze Destroys the Carlton

MANY NARROW ESCAPES

Over Two Hundred Americans Were Registered at Popular English Hostelry.

London, August 10.—Jameson Lee Finney, the American actor, perished last night in a fire which destroyed a part of the Carlton hotel, where he was a guest.

The body was found in the bathroom adjoining Mr. Finney's room on the fifth floor of the annex. The face was so badly charred that the features were unrecognizable. Apparently, Mr. Finney had gone into the bathroom to bathe before dressing and was asphyxiated.

The fire was fierce and was attended by exciting scenes.

The Carlton is one of London's most fashionable resorts and many Americans are among its guests. Of the 200 persons staying at the hotel when the fire broke out, many were from the United States and while all had narrow escapes, none except Finney suffered injury.

The fire was confined mainly to that end of the hotel adjoining His Majesty's theatre and the fifth and sixth floors, which were gutted. Part of the roof also was destroyed. Only the hardest work of firemen saved the hotel and theatre.

Damage from water is greater than that done by fire. Most of the interior of the building was thoroughly soaked.

The alarm was sounded at seven o'clock, while most of the guests were dressing for dinner. The blaze started in the elevator shaft, from the fusing of an electric wire, and roared so threateningly that the people poured out into the streets, leaving all their baggage. Men in their underclothes, with overcoats over them, and women half dressed fled from the building.

Firemen arrived quickly and ran up their ladders and rescued a number of servants who, from the upper windows, were shrieking for help. They also carried out two invalid guests. The general alarm sent out brought a great force of apparatus.

The upper floor, where most of the damage by fire was done, was given over mostly to servants' quarters. Comparatively few of the guests lost their baggage. The salvage corps removed trunks and piled them in the streets.

Many Americans who had been staying at the Carlton sailed on the Olympic for home yesterday, but incoming steamers had brought new guests, and a majority of the 200 in the hotel were Americans.

James R. Keene, the well known New York financier, and horseman, was one of the nearest victims of the fire. He was sitting in his room when the alarm rang and calmly walked down stairs, lighting a cigar, and then stood on the sidewalk and watched the progress of the flames. Afterward he went to the Berkeley Hotel, where he spoke of his experience as a mere incident. He did not even inquire whether his baggage had been saved.

One of the features of the fire was the bravery of the Americans. What little panic and excitement existed was among the employees of the hotel, chiefly the continental women in the servants' quarters, who were screaming at the top of their voices.

John Greenway of Arizona, took two women and a boy down a fire escape, while R. W. Daniels slid down a rope to the street from the third floor with an English friend who was visiting him.

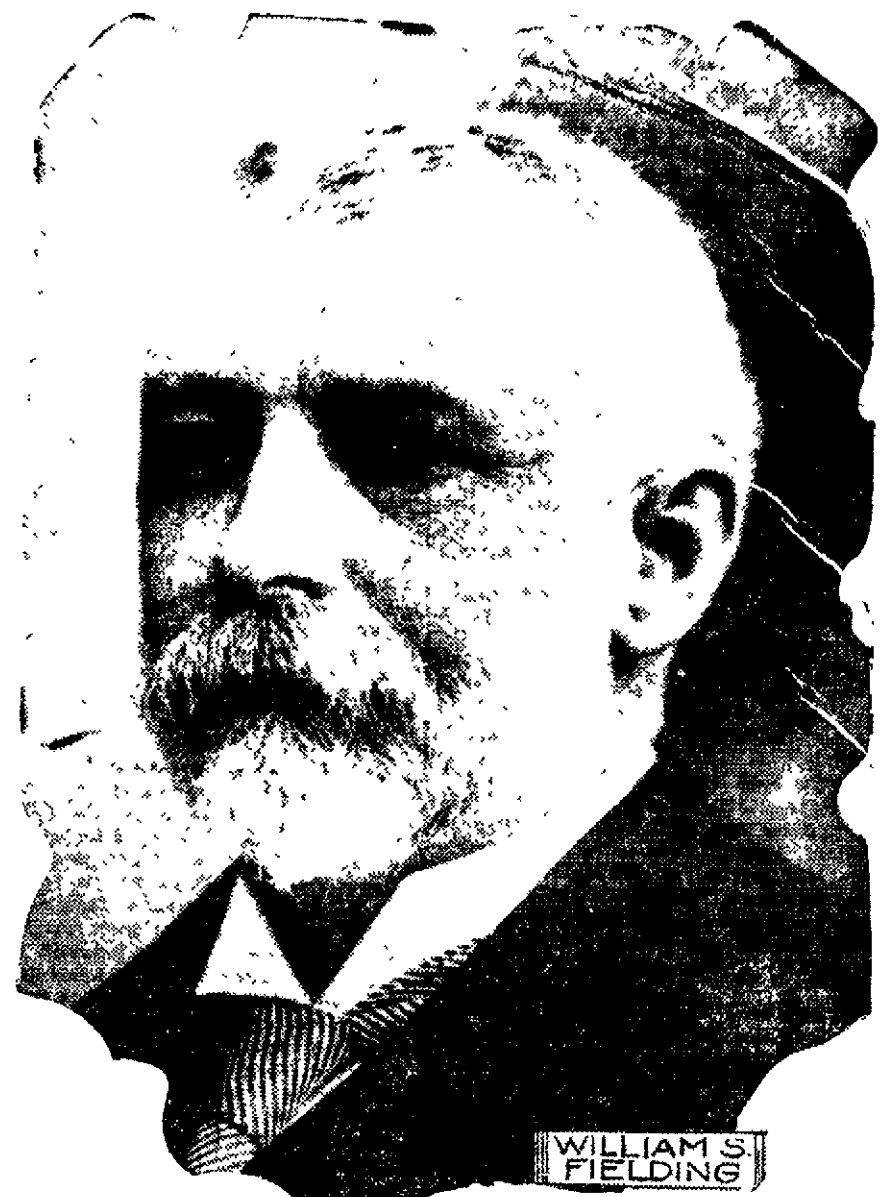

Thomas A. Edison was staying at the Carlton but was out when the fire occurred.

FINNEY WAS WELL KNOWN AND POPULAR ACTOR.

New York, Aug. 10.—Jameson Lee Finney was a widely-known character actor who had appeared in many of the recent successful plays on the metropolitan stage and in cities in this country. He was born 47 years ago in St. Louis and made his first appearance in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1881. He appeared for a time in various parts with the Booth-Barrett company during 1901 he toured with Daniel Frolman's company, and for the next two years appeared steadily in New York theaters. One of his best remembered characterizations

ESTATE OF GATES ESTIMATED TO BE WORTH $35,000,000

New York, August 10.—The fortune left by the late John W. Gates is estimated today at $35,000,000. "Mr. Gates had the reputation of being a gambler in stocks," remarked one of his friends here, "but those of us who were intimate with him know that his speculations were made only after the careful digestion of every available bit of statistics upon the property in which he intended to invest. He was one of the most astute financiers of the day."

It was the policy of Mr. Gates during the last two or three years to invest himself as rapidly as compatible with good business judgment of the bulk of the large list of speculative stocks he had accumulated as one of the boldest operators Wall street has ever known, and to invest the proceeds in a safer line of securities.

The only directorate memberships with which he was credited at the time of his death were American Salt Company, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, Century Realty Company, Hippodrome Amusement Company, New York Hippodrome Company, Plaza Operating Company, (the Plaza Hotel), Republic Iron and Steel Company, the Texas Company, United States Realty and Improvement Company, and Western Maryland Railroad Company.

That Mr. Gates was the largest individual holder of the stocks of the Texas Company and the Republic Iron and Steel Company, is generally conceded. The Texas Company was largely of his own creation. It was through this organization that he mainly directed the development of his immense oil fields in Texas and Louisiana. He had planned ultimately to make it a real rival of the Standard Oil.

The Republic Iron and Steel Company was his last big remnant of (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4.)

BODY WAS RIDDLED WITH SHOT

Believed Bart Offord May Have Been Murdered

LOCAL POLICE NOTIFIED

Young Man Was Member of a Camping Party Along Licking River.

Zanesville, O., Aug. 10.—Burt Offord, aged 37 years, a son of a prominent Zanesville family, was found dead this morning in a clump of bushes near "Camp Lucky", seven miles west of Zanesville. His head and neck and shoulders were filled with shot, indicating that his death was due to wounds received from the charge of a shot gun.

The only clue the police have to work upon is the fact that two unknown men boarded a car at Dillon's Falls, five miles west of Zanesville and two miles east of Camp Lucky, both of whom carried shot guns.

Offord was a member of a camping party at the above named camp. He left the tent this morning, saying he was going to the railroad track to pick up coal and that was the last seen of him alive. His body was found an hour later by Harry Kraus, a lad who was fishing in the vicinity.

The theory has been advanced that the two men with shot guns who boarded the car to Zanesville, had been out shooting ground hogs and that Offord was shot accidentally. He had but little money, not enough to warrant any one murdering him for robbery.

Until about two years ago, Offord was an engineer on the Zanesville and Western railroad, but since that time he has been unemployed except occasional jobs of different kinds.

LOCAL POLICE NOTIFIED.

The Newark police department was notified this afternoon of the finding of the dead body of Burt Offord in the bushes near a camp along the Licking river.

There is every indication that Offord was the victim of a foul murder as the body bore evidence of murder. Two men were seen in the vicinity a short time before the body was discovered and one of the men carried a shot gun.

The police were asked to keep a lookout for suspicious characters and hold them for investigation unless the men could give a good account of themselves.

Gives the Widow's Side of Life.

HERE'S a lot of fun made of widows," said the Candid Girl, "but their life isn't all ice-cream and roses.

"Just say a person is a widow, and instead of arousing sympathy for her, everybody is at once, to put it mildly, interested. The advent of a young widow at a summer hotel, or on board of an ocean liner causes more comment than would the arrival of a dozen girls or married women. Everybody seems to expect something doing when a young widow is around. But why?"

The men looked slightly conscious, but nobody said anything. "Of course, a widow likes fun, especially if she is young, the same as anybody else; but let her be the least bit lively and people say she is gay, and look at you in a way that means she will bear watching. And if she is very quiet and melancholy, they intimate it is a pose. And if she is the least bit nice to a man, everybody is quoting old Weller and telling the man to be careful. I tell you it isn't a bit pleasant to be the object of so much suspicion. It's hard on your nerves to go about trying to look as if you didn't know what everybody is thinking.

"It is true a widow doesn't need a chaperone," went on the Candid Girl, "but everybody is sitting around with their eyes glued on her, which is worse than having fifty chaperones.

"I heard a man say the other night,"—one of the men looked slightly uneasy—"he was talking about an awfully popular man friend of his: 'He's all right while just the girls are after him,' he said, 'because, after all, most girls are rather modest and nice. But look out, if a dashing young widow takes a fancy to him.' Now wasn't that mean?"

None of the men could be induced to criticize their brother. "For my part," said the Candid Girl, "I think widows are just women with maybe an aching heart. They know men better than we do, and perhaps their heart is a little tender toward men because of one particular man, and so they want to be nice to all of them. But I don't believe they are all the things they are generally supposed to be, and I don't think we ought to make life any harder for them than it is."

"I am sure I try to make it as pleasant for them as possible," said one of the men, guilelessly.

"Here, too," said another.

"You weren't thinking of being a widow yourself some day, were you?" asked a third.

"Well, if I ever am," replied the Candid Girl, laughing, "and people don't treat me right, I have an idea I'll tell them, pleasantly, what I think of them."

TRIMMING AT THE BACK A FASHION FEATURE.

Almost invariably the hat trimmed across the back is becoming and rather youthful in suggestion. Women should, therefore, welcome the new fashion of trimming fall hats in the back. Many of the new models show this style of trimming and this pretty white felt hat is one of the advance models. Another new note is the box pleated frill plinked out at the edges—a very old fashion revived.

A HOME RECIPE FOR REMOVING WRINKLES.

(From Woman's National Journal) Who will blame the modern woman for trying to look as young and attractive as she reasonably can? Why should she be placed at a disadvantage in numerous ways by wearing wrinkles, if she can avoid these hateful marks of advancing age?

Few women, however, know what to do to effectually rid themselves of wrinkles or saggingness. None of the advertised preparations is satisfactory and most of them are very expensive. But a very simple and harmless home remedy, which any woman can make, will work wonders where all the patent preparations fail.

Buy an ounce of powdered saxolite at any drug store. Dissolve the whole ounce in a half pint of witch hazel and use it as a wash lotion. The results are practically instantaneous. Marked improvement is noticed immediately after the very first trial. Wrinkles and sagging are corrected and the face feels so refreshed and snug-like.

CLAIMED HATTERY ABUSED HIS WIFE

Jack Hattery was arrested Wednesday night by Wagonman McClure and Officer Swinehart, on a general charge of drunk and disorderly. The complaint was made by neighbors, who assert that Hattery chased his wife from the house, threatening her life with a butcher knife. When the officer arrived Hattery was standing in the kitchen with a butcher knife in his hand. He told the policemen that his wife threw the knife at him and ran from the house.

The woman was in a state of nervous collapse and sought refuge at the home of a neighbor until Thursday morning when she was taken in an ambulance to the home of her sister. Hattery will get a hearing in police court Friday morning.

Those cowards who write the Advocate anonymous letters dare not come out in the open so that the public can gaze upon their hideousness. Two specimens came through the mail yesterday. One was so profane that it would be unprintable. The other made a disgraceful justification of the lynching tragedy. Both of these writers would make our progressive city such a by-word to all the outside world that the interests of every home owner would suffer. If such cowards think they can intimidate the Advocate they are woefully mistaken. The Advocate stands for Newark's welfare, morally, financially and socially, and the hundreds of congratulations received from such various sources clearly demonstrate how the paper's course is widely approved and appreciated.

It is announced that President Taft will veto the statehood bill admitting New Mexico and Arizona on account of the recall of judicial officers provided in the constitution of the latter Territory. The President's veto will be clearly wrong and the bill should be passed over the veto. Neither Congress nor the President has any right to interfere with the details of a new State's constitution. If it provides for a government "republican in form" there is no choice except to approve it.
Such, at least, were our theory and practice in the good old days. Congressional amendment of the proposed Constitution of States requesting entry into the Union is futile, anyhow;
for the State could renege them the day after their admission.
Senators are opposing the arbitration peace treaty for the jealous reason that their future prerogatives may be somewhat curtailed. The great advantage of the treaties of international arbitration is that they will afford time for deliberation until the gusts of popular passion raised by jingoism are quelled by appeals to reason.

HOW CONGRESS STANDS ON THE PRESIDENCY

A poll of the Democratic members of Congress, taken by the New York World, shows the following division of opinion over the Presidential nominee in 1912:

Gov. Wilson of New Jersey.....	45
Gov. Harmon of Ohio.....	35
Speaker Champ Clark.....	26
House Leader Underwood.....	17
Gov. Folk of Missouri.....	14
Gov. Marshall of Indiana.....	14
Gov. Foss of Massachusetts.....	2

Total positive first choice expressions 153
Absentees from House and Senate 51
Declined to express preferences..... 51
"Optional" preferences, and favor
Non-committal, with preferences
Harmon (1) 5
Total number of Democrats in House and Senate 267

Geographically the poll indicates no sectional preferences except, perhaps,
in the case of Underwood, whose adherents are, almost without exception, from the South. Wilson and Harmon have champions in every section of the country. Marshall and Folk are lowered are held together by convention or primary pledges.

WHY TAFT FAILED.

When the history of Mr. Taft's administration is written, his failure to win the sympathy of the people will no doubt be attributed to his selection as advisers of men who are not in sympathy with the needs of the people of the country.
Let us see who the men are, surrounding President Taft, who know exactly what "they" want; and who, through having practically a monopoly of the President's ear, have been able to deceive him into the belief that he is acting the part of a real statesman if he vetoes legislation of the very character that he promised the people before election in order to secure their votes.
In his cabinet Mr. Taft has Secretary of State Knox, former steel trust attorney, Attorney General Wickersham, former sugar trust attorney, and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagle, former attorney for the Waters-Pierce (Standard) Oil company.
Then in his immediate family circle the President has Brother Charles Taft, who is so constituted temper-mentally and financially that he can view legislation only from the viewpoint that "Big Business" views it; and also Brother Henry W. Taft, a member of the New York law firm of Strong & Caldwell, which represents the sugar trust, Wall street and the great industrial corporations.
For substantiation of any advice the President may receive from these sources, he has but to call in Senator Lippitt, Aldrich's successor from Rhode Island. Mr. Lippitt is one of the millionaire beneficiaries of the struggling cotton trust, and knows exactly what he wants. Others who know what they want and upon whom the President relies are Penrose, Smoot, Guggenheim, DuPont and the balance of the circle of special privilege servers in the Senate.
And here is a list of the men whose advice is not sought by Mr. Taft: La-Follette, Clapp, Cummins, Bristow and all genuine progressive Republicans.
These facts tell their own story.
There's no chance for the President to do anything for the people as long as he has his present advisors around, and from present indications he has no intention of taking on a new set of advisors.

WAS TEDDY A TOOL OF THE STEEL TRUST?

(Mansfield Shield.)
According to Col. Roosevelt's own testimony before the congressional committee investigating the steel trust, he, while President, gave special permission to the steel trust, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, to absorb the Tennessee Coal and Iron company with all its valuable ore lands and mills in the south.
This he did upon the spur of the moment, without investigation or familiarity with the facts, upon the word of two officials of the Steel Trust. They told Roosevelt that they didn't want the Tennessee company but that they were willing to take it over in order to prevent a general panic but intimated that if they did take it they could promise there would be an end of the panicky conditions then prevailing with the center of disturbance in Wall street.
It was a pretty big bait, but Roosevelt swallowed it, hook, line and all.
To have an end of the panic, he was willing to promise most anything, as he has testified. It could not be possible that he was ignorant of the causes of the panic. It may have been possible that he didn't discern an ulterior motive in the proposal of the steel trust men. He admits that he didn't take the trouble to inquire what had rendered almost valueless the stock of the Tennessee company, nor did he discover the latter company was the strongest competitor of the trust in the market. He didn't know that with the exception of the ore fields of the Lake Superior region, 75 per cent of which were controlled by the trust, the next greatest and most valuable lay in the Birmingham district with its mills and controlled by the Tennessee company.
No, of course not. The payment of steel trust bonds for the run down stock of the Tennessee company was wholly unpremeditated and purely philanthropic. The trust didn't want those great mills and ore fields of the sunny south with their millions upon millions of dollars worth of ore stored away in the hillsides, but to save the dear country from a real panic they were willing to accept them, practically as a gift.
And the impetuous, chivalric Teddy,
over-riding the law of the land, told them to take the priceless gift and save the dear people from the horrors of a panic.
And so the steel trust, after making ripe the conditions and using the chief executive of the nation as a tool, gobbled up into its unholy maw the object of its ravenous appetite.
And in view of these facts, before the WONDERMENT.

I wonder why the chiggers infest this lovely land, and climb our shapely figures, and bite to beat the band? In sunny hours of childhood we never heard their name; now, in the tangled wilderness, they play their dizzy game. They cause us cruel rigors, and agony intense; so what's the use of chiggers, and where's there any sense?
I wonder why the rooster must always start to yell just when the human booster is sleeping fairly well? Just when we're nicely dreaming, and night is nearly through, the rooster starts a screaming his cockadoodle-doo! And so we get up scowling, and curs, that noisy cock; why can't he do his howling at half past 10 o'clock (10:30 a. m.)? I wonder why the weather can never hit the spot? It's too cold, altogether, or else too beastly hot. When we'd go aeroplan-ing, or camping in the woods, it's sure to be a-raining some wet and sloppy goods. And if we'd have some water to help the garden sags, the sun starts in to slaughter the buds and fruit and grass. There's nothing really suits me, and so I'll yelp my fill, until some fellow boots me and tells me to be still.

HEREAFTER LIGHTS WILL BE CARRIED

A moonlight night, a dainty canoe, two young men, no lantern—and a fine of $5 and costs are the principal parts of a little comedy played last night to an audience of friends at Buckeye Lake Park by two members of the Holophone Company.
The young men in question are the proud possessors of a canoe and many the merry hour they spend paddling about the entrancing waters of old Buckeye. The started out Wednesday night, and as any sensible young men should, could not see the reason of wasting lantern light when such a perfectly splendid moon was shining.
Then, too, lanterns somewhat mar
the sentimentality of a canoe.
The evening was divine and the ride was fine, but hist—the villain appeared on the scene in the person of officer Benner, and they were somewhat summarily informed that they were under arrest. The ride ended, that is without any paddling, for they were towed to shore and placed in "durance vile."
Thursday morning they were
"dragged" before the officiating judge. The hour was early, and the judge not interested, and although he knew they had committed a crime, he could not find the particular statute that said so. So gallant as they are the Holophone boys thumbed through the law books, but slack-alack their search brought no result and the officer of the law said he thought they had better pay a fine of $5 and costs. They thought that would be the better thing too, so they paid up.
Both hastened to the door and sono as it was closed a hurried search was made for carfare, but they found none. And now comes the saddest part of the drama—they had to walk home, and it was awfully hot.

AWAY WITH THE CORN DENTIST!

"BINGO" Beats Knife and Chisel
Have you a corn, callous, bunion, wart? Use judgment—use "Bingo."
Don't try to slice it off or dig it out—Don't run risk of blood poisoning! Don't let corn surgeon cut or sandpaper your feet. How can he know how deep to go without hurting you—without drawing blood? Why pay him more for just temporary relief than a whole bottle of "Bingo" costs (2 bits)? Don't use sticky plasters with thin coating of dope to affect surface only—with straps to bulge the stocking—no waste pressure against tender, painful spot—and make you wear larger shoes.
"Bingo" better, quicker, safer, more thorough. Get rid of these pests entirely. Always pain and inflammation quickly a wink. Corn or callous shrivel-s up—you pick it off, throw it away!
Harmless to normal flesh.

rect by M.-D.-W. Mfg. Co., 5057 In-

FELL THROUGH FIVE FLOORS AND WAS UNINJURED

Lynn, Mass., August 10.—That Miss Hazel Goodsoe, 26 years of age was not seriously injured when she fell through six floors at the Public Library building here is considered remarkable by the doctors who attended her. She is in Lynn hospital suffering only from bruises and slight cuts.
Miss Goodsoe is a reference clerk in the library, and at the time of the accident, she with Miss Vivian Wel-ber was in the stock room, standing on a plate glass floor. The glass gave way and as the woman went down, Miss Welber made attempt to catch her clothing but failed. Miss Goodsoe struck the glass below. That, too gave way and this was repeated on each of the five floors.
The glass floors in the stock room have been in use for the last seven years. The distance Miss Goodsoe fell is about 60 feet. The glass used as a flooring is about half an inch thick.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver

OYSTERS ARE EXPENSIVE IN FAR AWAY RUSSIA

Washington, Aug. 9.—That oysters may be eaten in any month of the year in which the letter "r" appears is a rule unknown in Russia for there the taste for Blue Points and Lynn Haven Bays remains uncultivated and even oysters, grown in the Black Sea and described as "brackish in taste and in general unpalatable," are all but unknown. Oyster houses are almost unknown and even in Moscow, with its population of a million and a half people, there are not more than a half dozen places where oysters may be purchased, according to consular reports.
The Black Sea oyster, which is not bigger than the end of one's thumb, sells in Moscow at 5 cents apiece in the markets, while in the restaurants a single stew costs $1.50. American oysters are all but unobtainable, canned oysters that sell from seven to ten cents in this country, bringing more than 50 cents in Moscow.
When the wealthy Russian orders oysters he is served Ostend oysters which cost 12-12 cents to 20 cents apiece. Americans find it impossible to obtain freshly imported American oysters at any price.

CANNOT LOCATE HIDDEN TREASURE OF THE INDIANS

Exeter, Mo., August 10.—After spending several weeks hunting for a treasure which he says he helped to hide more than 80 years ago, Big Keyes, a Chickasaw Indian, has returned to his home in Oklahoma.
Keyes, a Chickasaw Indian, has returned years old, tells that the treasure, which consisted of silver, was buried in a cave on the White River in southwestern Missouri by his tribe.
After hiding their treasure the Indians went to Oklahoma and Keyes marked the trail which led to the cave.
Old landmarks made on rocks he says he has found, but the mark that designated the entrance to the cave was made on a huge elm tree. This tree he cannot find.

TARIFF REVISION BOUND TO COME

Canadian Reciprocity Proves to Be Entering Wedge.

SENTIMENT GROWING DAILY.

Many Republicans Are Angry Over
Canadian Bill, and They Will Vote
For Lower Rates on All Manufactured
Articles—Congressman Underwood's Stock Is Rising.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Aug. 10.—[Special.]— That tariff revision must come in the near future has been apparent from votes taken in both houses on different schedules presented. It looks as if the tariff sentiment in the house was strong enough to pass the several bills over the president's veto, but there is more than one-third of the senate that still stands for protection and would not allow bills to become laws without the president's approval.
In the last house the tariff revision sentiment was not very strong, the insurgents not being very numerous. In the last senate the same was true, save that the insurgents made themselves more prominent. But they were not able to materially reduce the tariff. As a result of the election last fall the tariff revisionists largely increased their strength, and the belief prevails that until there is substantial reduction of duties the sentiment will continue.

They Mean Business.
Promise of tariff revision in the next session has already been made. It is doubtful, however, if the president and the present majority in both houses will find themselves in accord as to how far revision should go.

The way certain Republicans of the senate have been voting on the different tariff bills shows that they mean business. Most of them are very angry over the enactment of the Canadian reciprocity bill, and they intend to get even with the men in the east who supported that measure by voting for lower rates on manufactured goods when opportunity presents itself. It is proving that Canadian reciprocity was the entering wedge for tariff revision.

Alabama Stock Raises.
"How's your Alabama candidate?" Congressman Clayton was asked the day after Oscar Underwood paid his respects to Mr. Bryan.
"Looking up," replied Clayton. "Alabama stock has gone up materially.
Bryan will make a real live candidate of him if he keeps this thing going much farther."

"I'll be hanged if that isn't a fact," remarked Congressman Garner of Texas. "As sure as you're a foot high, Underwood will be a mighty big factor in the next convention. Even Bryan's best friends in the house are sustaining him in this situation."

Stenographers Can't Keep Up.
There are so many hearings in progress and so much testimony being taken that the shorthand men cannot turn out the copy fast enough to have it printed day by day. Redoubled activity among the different investigating committees has been a good thing for the stenographers who want the merry dance to continue.

Looks Like a Jail.
Such strong bars have been placed on the lower windows of the east front of the treasury building that the fine edifice has the appearance of a jail. Heretofore wire gratings covered the windows, but in remodeling the building it was decided to make it impossible for burglars to break into Uncle Sam's strong box.

"Working Lines." Minority Leader Mann coined the phrase "working lines" to describe the alliance or whatever may be called the understanding between the Democrats of the senate and the insurgent Republicans who have been assisting in passing the tariff bills. He asked Leader Underwood about these "working lines" and the Alabama member responded that at that time the "working lines had not been perfected."

Meant Nice Discrimination.
It developed in the talk about the campaign publicity bill that if the senate provision limiting expenditures to 10 cents for each voter was retained it would take mighty fine discrimination in several states to fix the amount. Congressman Olmsted pointed out that in one district in Mississippi only 4,070 votes were cast at the congressional election, which would limit the expenditure to $407. It would also be hard to decide whether men of voting age, including the negroes in the southern states, should be considered voters or only those who voted.

Hughes Advancing.
Friends of Billy Hughes, the New Jersey member of the ways and means committee, have been congratulating him upon the prospects he has for becoming governor. It hangs upon such a contingency as to give the whole matter a speculative turn, but none the less it causes things to be said to Hughes which show appreciation.
If Governor Wilson should be nominated for president he would leave a vacancy in the New Jersey governor-ship, and Hughes' friends say he is the man for it. Hughes has served only three terms in congress, but he has made a place for himself in that time.

CHAUFFEUR ELOPES WITH HEIRESS TO FRENCH MILLIONS

Newport, R. I., Aug. 10.—The entire eastern coast between Maine and Virginia is being searched today by society folk and private detectives for a trace of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Paul Geraghty of this city.
This is one of the most startling elopements of recent years and orders are out to halt the couple wherever they might be found.
John Edward Paul Geraghty, aged 21, is a chauffeur and salesman for a Newport garage. His bride was Miss Julie Steele French, heiress to a million at least, daughter of Amos Tuck French of Newport, New York, and Tuxedo, and incidentally a neighbor of Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, former wife of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.
Late last night it was said that Mrs.
Elsie French Vanderbilt was motoring at high speed from town to town in New England, endeavoring to pick up the trail of the runaways, and that Mr. and Mrs. French were keeping the wires hot in all directions in their efforts to find them.
The couple were married yesterday in Central Village, Conn., by Rev. Lewis Perry of Hudson, N. H., who chanced to be a guest at a hotel there. They ostensibly traveled to Worcester, Mass., but at that place no sign of them developed.

The groom's father owns a livery stable and drives a hack himself, getting most of his trade from the Casino and reading room.
Geraghty was often called to the French home to take Miss Julie out in an electric machine.

MOTHER BEWAILS SON'S MARRIAGE WITH HEIRESS.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 10.—"I don't see why my boy married that society girl. He is a good honest, clean boy with no bad habits and the hardest kind of a worker. And he has been a good son to his father and me."
With traces of tears in her eyes, Mrs. John G. Geraghty, wife of the livery stable proprietor and debutante mother of "handsome Jack" Geraghty, the chauffeur, who yesterday eloped with and married Miss Julia Stella French, heiress and debutante of last winter expressed her sentiment today as she asked if any news had been received from her son and his bride. "The marriage, following the elopement from Newport, if they was distasteful to the society element and the family of the young heiress it is equally so to the village liveryman and his good wife."
"We wanted our boy to marry a girl of his own kind," Mrs. Geraghty continued. "Last week, Stuyvesant Leory, Miss French's uncle, came here and ordered Jack to keep away from his relative. I told Jack to do so, but love is a funny thing they say."

John G. Geraghty, father of the boy, is a Newport character. He has a good livery business and drives his own hack "when a driver lays down on him." The son drove one of his father's rigs until this year when he became a chauffeur. The Geraghtys are highly respected as honest hard working straightforward people.

Meanwhile there is the utmost consultation in society circles.
Anxious mothers are safe-guarding their "eligible daughters whom they hope to yet marry to Astors or at least to millionaires and young chauf-eurs are being hastily displaced by staid married men selected for their excessive homeliness.

All of those related to the bride, including her aunt, Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, divorced wife of Alfred G.
Vanderbilt, who drives a stage between London and Brighton, were in retirement today. They sent word that "under no circumstances would they discuss the wedding or the report that the bride's father intends applying to have the marriage annulled."

Meanwhile the young couple are believed to be honeymooning in Boston indifferent to the stir their wedding has created.

Toledo, Aug. 10.—Because he had refused to appear before Lewis B. Hall, yesterday afternoon.

Major was found in the office of his attorney, Walter Brown, and taken in to custody. While the deputy and his

of Judge O'Donnell, Coroner Hensler served a writ of habeas corpus for Major's release. The hearing on the writ was set for next Wednesday.

WAS PRETTY HOT IN GOPHER STATE

Kansas City, Aug. 10.—With the thermometer above 100 degrees at two points at noon yesterday and crowding that figure closely at others, higher temperatures menaced the Southwest.
Sedalia, Mo., and Topeka, Kans., reported temperatures of 101 and 102 respectively, at noon. In Kansas City the thermometer registered 97 at that hour, and the same at Atchison, Kan.

CONDITION OF DAVIS REMAINS VERY SERIOUS

nesday's early morning shooting is holding his own at the City Hos-

George Davis, the young man who did the shooting, is still confined to his cell in the city prison and yesterday an affidavit was filed against him, charging him with shooting with intent to kill.

Daddy's Bedtime

How a White
Story— Mulley Played
Ghost to a Boy

"THE next time we go to play ball Evelyn can't come along," declared Jack as daddy came in to say good night.

"Why, what has Evelyn been doing?"

"Evelyn is afraid of cows," she screamed at those in the field.

"Did I ever tell you how I was scared by a mulley cow?" asked daddy. "Well, it was when I was a boy. I happened to be visiting Uncle Zeph, who lived in the country. I spent every vacation I could on the farm, for uncle and aunt had no children of their own and came pretty near to spoiling me when I was with them."

"I had an invitation to go coon hunting with a party of men and boys of the neighborhood. Uncle Zeph wasn't going. He didn't care for hunting. Said he hated to see things killed."

"After supper I headed for the next farm, where the party was to meet. I suppose I had to walk a mile and a half. I thought nothing of the walk in the daytime, but I had been late in starting. It was twilight, and I thought I would take a short cut through some woods. Have you ever been alone in the woods at night? Well, everything is very quiet. Now and then one will hear strange noises that one never hears by day as some night prowler makes his way abroad. The leaves rustled weirdly overhead. In a distant tree an owl was hooting dimly. A rabbit once or twice started me by dashing up almost at my feet. Far away I could hear the faint tinkle of bells."

"Suddenly, just ahead of me, I noticed something queer moving among the bushes. It seemed to be watching and following me. Once a white head was poked out among the bushes, and two huge eyes peered at me. I began to run. Then I heard heavy footsteps coming after me. I glanced back over my shoulder, and there was a gigantic white figure following me at what seemed to me huge strides. Yelling with fear, I dashed ahead, and when I reached the farm I had an awful tale to tell."

"The whole party turned out in search of the strange monster, and the coon was forgotten. Well, they found the ghost down by the brook, and mighty glad it was to be found. The ghost was a white cow which had got out of a neighbor's pasture and had been unable to find its way home at milking time. You should have heard those men and boys laugh. I went home early that summer, for the story got out, and whenever I met them people would ask slyly if I had seen a ghost lately."

"So you see even boys—big boys—are liable to be frightened at times—even by a cow."

* Quarter Century Ago. *

(From Advocate, Aug. 10, 1886.)
A lively runaway, with no damage done, occurred on Granville St. this morning.

There was nothing doing in police court this morning except the case of a fellow who was locked up for going to sleep in the Court House Park. Misses Lucy Bader and Louise Kussmaul returned home last evening from Somerset, where they have been visiting friends.

Mr. Samuel Williams, an uncle of Mr. S. S. Williams and a former resident of this county, but now of Kentucky, is here visiting friends and relatives.

Battle of Wilson's Creek, Mo., also known as Springfield and Oak Hills, was fought. Strategically it was a victory for the north and was the severest of the year's fights, except Bull Run. The Lisey Reunion.
One of the most enjoyable family reunions that has been held this summer was that of the Lisey family held at Buckeye Lake on Thursday. There were about sixty members of the family in attendance, and a day brimming over with pleasure was had by all. The feature of the day was the big dinner that was served at the noon hour. The officers who have served during the past year are John Sachs, president and Mrs. Eva Kleckler, secretary and treasurer.

Undergoing Repairs.
The Seiler Hotel on South Second street is undergoing extensive repairs and is being generally brightened so that it will soon shine. The wood and stone trimmings of the hotel, both on the exterior and interior are being freshly painted and when the work is completed the hotel will present a very attractive appearance. The work is being done by J. H. Lanning.

Injured While Driving.
Wilson Rosebraugh, the young son of Mrs. Sarah Rosebraugh of Buena Vista street, received a bad cut on his head Wednesday afternoon. With some other boys he was in swimming and was diving. The water was rather shallow, and Wilson in going down struck a rock with great force cutting a large circular gash in his head. The lad was hurried to the office of Dr. C. H. Stinson where it required twelve stitches to close the wound.

Wonderful Motion Pictures.
The Kinama-color or colored motion pictures of the coronation festivities of King George were presented in New York a few days ago for the first time in this country. By a new process which requires no tinting of the films, painting or stenciling, it is possible to throw on the screen the exact colors of the scene represented. Not only motion but color is obtained in a remarkable way. Beginning next Monday Keith's Hippodrome in Cleveland will show these wonderful pictures. Prices 25 and 50 cents.

New Cement Walks.
The new cement walks in West Main street in front of the Emerson clothing store, the City Drug Store and Baughman fruit store have been completed. A new walk is being laid in front of the First National Bank building and work was commenced Thursday on new walks in front of the Franklin and Thomas properties on West Church street. Many others.

HIGH DIVING
AT WATERWORKS
PUMP STATION

In celebration of the completion of the new municipal dam at the waterworks pumping station yesterday, the workmen induced James Smith and Bart Pitterer, two of their fellow employees, to do a high dive from the top of the dam into the depths of the North Fork. It required considerable urging and some force to persuade the men to pull off the stunt for the entertainment of their companions but the numbers were too great and when some of the party gave the unfortunate men a shove, they made the dive in grand style. Unfortunately for their wardrobe, they were not permitted to attire themselves for the bath but were compelled to perform the aquatic stunt in full street dress. According to those who witnessed the stunt, Annette Kellerman the aquatic venus, would have turned green with envy at the sight of their graceful (?) diving.

INVESTORS ARE TRIMMED FOR THE SUM OF $250,000

New York, Aug. 10.—Accused by Post-office inspectors of using the mails to defraud investors, George H. Cove, an inventor, and Elmer Ellsworth Burlingame, a promoter, were arrested here. Cove is president of the Sun Electric Generator company, while Burlingame was selling agent of the company. Both are charged with defrauding scores of investors out of sums aggregating $250,000 by inducing them to buy stock in an enterprise which the postoffice inspectors declare has no merit.

Cove gained some notoriety a year ago when he dropped out of sight, after writing a letter, in which he declared he had been kidnapped by a number of capitalists, who sought to wrest from him the secret of his plan to generate electricity by concentrating the rays of the sun.

Burlingame is said by the postoffice inspectors to be a promoter of corporations, most of which either have gone to the wall or are in process of liquidation.

According to G. F. A. Birdseye, a postoffice inspector of Cincinnati, who was active in causing the arrest of the men, Cove employed electric power furnished by the electric light companies in demonstrating his device to prospective stock buyers and not that generated from the sun's rays.

The office of the promoters was thoroughly searched and a large quantity of advertising literature was confiscated. The men were arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields soon after their arrest by Deputy United States Marshal Pinckney, and remanded to the Tombs prison. Cove's bail being set at $2,500 and Burlingame's at $5,000. Their examination was set for October 2.

CHANGING HER FACE (From the Household Friend)

Any woman not satisfied with her complexion can remove it and have a new one. The thin veil of stifling half dead cuticle is an encumbrance and should be removed to give the fresh, vigorous young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe.

There's a simple old fashioned home remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure mercuric wax from your druggist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The mercuric wax will gently absorb all the lifeless skin and leave a healthy and beautiful complexion, as fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such facial blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples, etc. It is pleasant to use, effective and economical. The face so treated immediately looks years younger.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. GRACIE REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

PERKINS

(Continued from Page 1.) He knew of one contribution of $10,000 made by that corporation to a campaign fund in 1904. Thereupon the political phase of the inquiry apparently was dropped.

When the executive session of the committee was ended, Mr. Perkins was called by Chairman Stanley. Representative Littleton then began a statement relating how he had been absent on the previous day when Mr. Perkins had been asked to what extent he had made contributions to campaign funds.

"Upon the admissibility of this evidence," said Mr. Littleton, "a vote was taken and it was held to be legal to ask questions. I have examined thoroughly the resolution of the house under which this committee was appointed, and after much discussion and consideration I have made up my mind that any question asked of any witness as to his personal campaign contributions is not admissible under this resolution, unless it can be shown that such contributions were made with the understanding that thereafter the contributor was to be reimbursed by the Steel Corporation."

Representative Bartlett of Georgia, also a Democrat, is reported to have stood by Mr. Littleton.

Following Mr. Littleton's statement, Chairman Stanley declared it was well known that campaign contributions "that were not spread upon the records with any degree of voluminousness" were made by corporations.

"An inquiry," said Mr. Stanley, "as to the methods by which the United States Steel Corporation kept its books with reference to this practice is relevant. Mr. Beall may and will exercise a wise discretion in the matter, but as to the question as to what difference there was in the way the United States Steel Corporation and other corporations, that is, the New York Life Insurance Company, kept its records, the chair is still of the opinion that it is relevant and competent, and should Mr. Beall insist upon an answer to that question the decision of the chair is not to be altered."

Though this declaration created considerable excitement for the moment, when Mr. Perkins did not answer and an answer from him was not insisted upon. Instead, Richard V. Lindabury, counsel for the United States Steel Corporation, rose to make a statement.

"I wish to say," Mr. Lindabury began, "that I am as unalterable in my opinion relating to some questions as is the chairman in his. I do not object to questions as to campaign contributions of the Steel Corporation, but I do object to any inquiry into the practices of the New York Life Insurance Company as to campaign contributions." He told of the Steel Corporation's gift of $10,000 in 1904.

Mr. Perkins said he had never had expectations of reimbursements from anybody, and there the campaign contribution inquiry abruptly ended. Representatives Stanley, Sterling and Littleton called on President Taft at the White House and gained his permission for the expert of the steel company to have access to the information not yet made public, gathered by the bureau of corporations regarding the Steel Corporation.

Following the disposition of the campaign question, Representative Beall led Mr. Perkins again into the financial panic and the Tennessee Coal and Iron deal, bringing up eventually the bond conversion transaction by the Steel Corporation.

Search of the ruins of the Carlton hotel today revealed that but one life was lost in last night's fire that of James Lee Finney, a distinguished actor, whose remains were positively identified this morning. Finney evidently was in his bedroom when the fire reached him.

Many prominent Americans today, told how they escaped in barefeet and attired only in bath-robes or lounging gowns. Billie Burke, the actress tied in her dressing gown. Both she and James R. Keene, the New York horseman who has been ill at the hotel, lost all of their baggage. Keene was the last guest to leave, insisting upon taking his time. John Wanamaker, jr., who had a suite on the fourth floor rushed through the smoke to the floor above and rescued a woman, lowering her on a rope to R. M. Hunter and John P. McFadden, jr., who carried her down stairs.

Isadore Morse of New York, rescued three women overcome by smoke in the corridor on the fourth floor. Former Governor Frank Brown of Maryland, and his son, who were on the second floor, were the only guests who succeeded in getting out their baggage. John Purroy Mitchell, president of the Board of Aldermen, with his wife, was among the last to get out.

OFFICIAL REPORT OHIO DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 10.—In an address at the twenty-first anniversary of the Michigan School of Mines, at Houghton, Mich., yesterday, Director Smith of the United States Geological Survey, said that the objects to be sought by amendment of the public land laws are, first, purposeful and economical development of resources for which there is present demand, with retention of such control as may prevent unnecessary waste or excessive charges to the consumer, and second, the reservation to the people of the title to all resources the utilization of which is not immediate. The means that are essential to the attainment of these objects are, first, the classification of the public lands, second, the separation of surface and mineral rights; and third, the disposition of the lands on terms that will insure the highest use, enforce development, and protect the public interest.

The classification of the public land is essential to the administration not only of such laws as express the principle of separation but also of those whose purpose is to promote the highest use of the land. Under the withdrawal act of June 25, 1910, classification is made possible in advance of disposition, and disposition can be postponed to await needed legislation.

The second step, both in principle and in practice, appears to be one that shall make possible, by legislation, the separation of surface and mineral rights wherever the two estates have values that can be separately utilized.

The chief advantage of land withdrawal and classification lies in their essential relation to the principle of proper disposition of the public domain, the real purpose of public land administration being to secure such reservation or disposal of the people's land as will assure its highest use. The question of amending the present laws relating to the disposal of coal, oil, gas, and phosphate deposits on the public domain is fairly before the public, as is recognized by the specific mention of these minerals in the withdrawal act.

The coal-land law is unquestionably the most satisfactory of the present mineral-land laws, in that it permits an adequate valuation of the deposits. The present coal-land law, however, has one serious defect, which should be remedied if a leasing law is not enacted. The restriction of the area that may legally be acquired to a maximum of 160 acres for an individual and 640 acres for an association is not in accord with good mining practice. A law designed to promote the practical utilization of coal deposits, whether the system contemplates sale or lease, must provide for the holding of a unit large enough to justify the opening and equipment of a modern mine and to permit its operation on an economical scale. Without such provision for commercial operation too great an advantage is given to the land-grant railroads and the large coal companies that are already in possession of considerable areas of land containing high-grade coal.

The present uncertainty whether the phosphate rock of the public land should be entered under the lode law or under the placer law is conclusive evidence of the need of legislation. As a matter of fact neither of these laws is more applicable to the acquisition of beds of phosphate-bearing limestone than it would be to that of coal beds.

AX-GRINDING

A Science With Some Dealers—Done At the Expense of the Public.

There is nothing "just as good" as Newbro's Herpicide. Some dealers will even go so far as to tell you they have something better.

That dealer has an axe to grind. You can't stop his grinding, but you can prevent him grinding at your expense.

There is one sure, swift way to do it. Go where you can get what you ask for.

You won't be obliged to do this very often, as fortunately the majority of druggists are honest and conscientious.

Newbro's Herpicide has been so long and favorably known as the original dandruff germ destroyer that no one should be deceived.

When you need a hair remedy, you don't want the one which merely promises to kill the dandruff germ and prevents the hair from falling.

You want one that will do it. Herpicide does it. The hair becomes soft and lustrous. There is life, snap and beauty where formerly the hair was dead, dull and brittle.

Newbro's Herpicide is sold and guaranteed by all druggists. Applications of this wonderful prophylactic may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Send ten cents in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., for a nice sample of Herpicide and a booklet telling all about the hair. W. A. Erman & Son, Special Agents.

Two Diplomats Who Will Be Transferred In Big Shake Up

It is estimated that at least a month will elapse before the intended shift in the diplomatic service can be made. A general shakeup has been planned, which includes the transfer of Ambassador O'Brien from Japan to Italy, of Minister Charles

H. Sherrill from the Argentine Republic to a capital in Europe, and Mr. Leishman from Italy to Germany to succeed Dr. David Jayne Hill. It is said in Washington that the changes are to be made through the inauguration of a government policy of educating its diplomats by moving them from one country to another.

GRANVILLE

Granville, O., Aug. 10.—The members of Alabama Lodge, Knights of Pythias and of Arbutus Lodge, Pythian sisters, are making great arrangements for a big picnic to be held at Cat Run on Wednesday, August 23. Cat Run is considered one of the ideal spots in Licking county for holding picnics. It is located a few miles out of Granville and many of the lodges have held their annual picnics beneath the shade of the trees in this beautiful spot. All the neighboring Pythian lodges and Pythian sisters will be extended an invitation to participate in the festivities of the picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Keen of near Marysville, O., who have been visiting relatives and friends in Granville and vicinity for some days, have returned home.

Miss Irene Davis, a most estimable young woman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Davis, residing a short distance southeast of Granville, celebrated the anniversary of her birth at her home very pleasantly on Wednesday. Miss Irene was presented with a number of very pretty gifts and an array of postals in remembrance of the day, for which she was truly grateful. All join in wishing her many more anniversaries of joy and happiness.

The management of the Ohio Baptist assembly, which had such a successful session at Summerland Beach was so pleased with the success of the meeting that it is trying to make arrangements with the park management to buy the park. If this can be brought about it will provide an excellent place for the Ohio Assembly to hold its summer sessions.

The funeral of Mrs. Hitt, mother of Marion Hitt, who died at her home on the Columbus road on Tuesday, was held Thursday afternoon. The services were conducted at the family home at 3 o'clock, and the interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery. Mrs. Hitt was one of the pioneer women of Granville township. She was a woman who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her.

The annual reunion of the Price family, one of the largest and most prominent families in the county, was held Thursday at the home of H. C. Price in the Welsh Hills. There was an unusually large attendance of the connections of the family, together with a few of the close friends. A great time was had during the day by all, the big dinner being the feature of the occasion.

Quite a number of farmers in this vicinity have finished their threshing and a number have begun sowing, but they find plowing very disagreeable on account of the dust. Rain is needed very badly.

Mr and Mrs. M. D. Williams of Harrisburg, Pa., who have been visiting relatives and friends in Granville and vicinity for some time have returned home.

Mrs. Walton, who has been spending the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mitchell, and who returned to her home in Columbus for a few days, is again comfortably domiciled at the Mitchell home.

The corn famine which some of our neighboring cities have been experiencing, has been felt but very little here. A number of our nearby truck gardeners have been supplying Granville with the succulent ear.

Remarkable Record Of the Delaware

Washington, August 9.—Once more the navy department is calling attention to the record-breaking performance of the battleship Delaware, the finest vessel in the United States navy. In the opinion of navy officers, she has demonstrated a new remarkable efficiency, endurance and seakeeping qualities, superior to anything ever accomplished in any navy of the world.

The Delaware, on its visit to the coronation naval review, left New York on June 4 with 2,479 tons of coal, and 282 tons of fuel oil. She arrived at Tor Bay, England, June 16, and at Spithead, the scene of the review, June 19. She left Spithead, on June 23, and arrived at Boston July 9.

While abroad, she took on no fuel, engineering supplies, or stores of any kind, with the exception of fresh water and on reaching Boston she had in her bunkers 607 tons of coal and 18 tons of fuel oil. Her average speed for the whole trip was 11.85 knots.

That is, after crossing the Atlantic twice in a period of one month and five days, the Delaware still had sufficient fuel to steam 1,500 miles.

Just previous to her departure for Boston, the Delaware returned from a cruise of 17,500 miles, the last leg of which was 4,800 miles. On her arrival in port, with only a few hours' notice, she was sent out on a full-power speed and endurance test without an opportunity to examine her machinery. On this test she averaged higher than her contract speed of 21 knots.

Navy officers also believe that the performance of the Delaware demonstrates the superiority of the reciprocating engine over the turbine for general service on battleships. It is probable that for the next few years, at least, no turbines will be installed in the new warships to be built.

Accused of Stealing. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton Me., holdly accused Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing — the sting from burns or scalds — the pain from sores of all kinds — the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says. "As a healing remedy its equal doesn't exist." Only 25c at F. D. Hall's.
